

COMPLETE HOPE

While on earth, I will never hear your voice

Or know your favorite ice cream choice.

I will never dance with you in the rain

Or help you with your boo boos and your pain.

While on earth, I will never know the color of your eyes

Or be able to introduce you to yummy French fries.

For where you are is where I strive to be one day

When I say goodbye to this life and gladly head your way.

For in Heaven, we will dance, laugh and sing

And continually fly high without needing a single wing.

While on earth, I will never hear your voice

Or know your favorite football team choice.

But one day in Heaven, our family will finally be complete

And I will never have to wonder again what it will be like when we all meet.
